THE outrages of the Ku Kluxers are growing in number and barbarity in the South. Were we to give half the cases of murder and outrage reported in the daily papers, our columns would contain nothing else. The truth of the whole matter is, that the vilest of the rebels have renewed the war, and are intent on driving loyal men from the Southern States. They are as intolerant as they were before the war, when a Northern man with independent principles could not visit the South without danger of being mobbed and murdered. The existence of so much violence over so great a part of our territory does not speak well for our system of government. The criminals should be restrained if it should take an army to do it.

WHAT have the loyal men of this nation, who, casting aside all political differences, and sacrificing all sectional prejudices and predilections, entered the armies of the Union and put down the Southern rebellion, to say to this from the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser of March 19:

We declare that the war made by the Radical party of the United States against the Confederate States is the darkest scandal in history.

It is just such utterances as the above, from the defiant and disloyal rebels of the South, that teach us that the mission of the Republican party is not fulfilled. It would be as dangerous to disband our organization to-day as it would have been to disband the Union armies in 1864.—Press.

SENATOR SCOTT.—The Washington Chronicle pays a deserved compliment to the junior Senator of the State. It says: The speech of Senator Scott yesterday was a searching and convincing review of the Ku Klux Klan and its atrocious crimes in North Carolina. He set forth not only hideous brutality and murder, but the large numbers, the compact organization, the political character, and revolutionary purpose of the Klan. He closed with an appeal of rare eloquence and power to Democrats and Republicans to unite in the passage of a law, and in all other means to avert this startling wrong and peril. It is one of the ablest and the noblest speeches recently delivered in the Senate. Senator Scott is a calm reasoner, a thorough lawyer, a sincere man, honestly stating the convictions to which he has been reluctantly forced.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Joe of the "Watchman" some two weeks since, gives a report of his visit to Tyrone City. He tells how he put himself under the control and piletage of that "moral young man" Brainerd of the "Herald" who led him round and showed him the "sights" introduced him to his partner, Capt. Jones, and in his vagaries, he (Joe) drew a marked and truthful differance between the Senior and Junior Editors of the "Herald." For he states that Capt. Jones is a model gentleman who does not chew, smoke, drink nor swear, and is respected by all the people of Tyrone."

We were surprised at this stabing of Brainerd under the fifth rib, by Joe. But Brainerd published Joe's article in the "Herald" and thus adopts Joe's description, and the destinguishing traits which exist between himself and Capt. Jones, therefor we have nothing more to say on this subject, as Brainerd knows himself and standing at Tyrone.

Among other curiosities in the Tyrone menageries, Brainerd introduces Joe to the Post Master, Mr. Holmes—a wounded soldier, with whom he was delighted. And now after two weeks recuperation at home and in his sober second thought, he informs his readers in the last "Watchman," that James S. Plummer is the Post Master of Tyrone City, and not Mr. Holmes the one armed soldier, as he at first declared. He continues that Mr. Plummer is Post Master—that he was not a soldier, and did not lose an arm. Now, why did Joe's "erratic friend" Brainerd play such a trick upon him, as to introduce Joe to Holmes—the wounded soldier as the Post Master of the city? What part of the play does Holmes render? What inducements does he hold out to "moral young men" to visit him? What did Brainerd mean in thus fooling you Joe? How many boxes has Holmes in his Post Office? "Do tell, Joe."

THE WATCHMAN—ITS KEY NOTE.

The Watchman, and the Democratic journals generally, continue to rejoice over what they call a great victory in New Hampshire. The Watchman says, New Hampshire has struck the "Key-note" of the next Presidential campaign. In the Democratic sense, this may be true. She has, says an able writer, 'struck a discord, and discord has, for the past ten years, been the key-note of Democracy.'

It plainly indicates what the key-note of Republicanism is and must be. It must be struck in harmony with Republican principles and Republican institutions, or both must perish.

In striking the key-note of Democracy, New Hampshire sounds an alarm which thrills from one end of the Union to the other, and bids us beware how we permit apathy, local dissensions and personal feuds to throw us off our guard and give the enemy a chance to attack us by surprise. It bids us, by all we hold dear as patriots and freemen, to hush the personal bickerings that are becoming too common. They are awakening a malicious spirit which had rather welcome ruin than the success of a rival.—Nero fiddling while Rome is burning, is a pleasant picture compared with the professed Republican who can calmly contemplate the success of the Democracy because in it he beholds a rival overwhelmed. The man who is willing to accept his own, his party's and country's ruin, to gratify a petty spite or a feeling of personal rivalry, is simply a mad man, and ought to be safely quartered in some insane assylum. There is no evil so great that the success of the Democratic party, at this crisis in our national existence, can be a remedy for it.

What is the key-note of the Democracy? Does any one suppose it in harmony with the continuation of "the Union as it is"? If so, he is sadly mistaken. No respectable and responsible Democratic journal will pretend to assert that it is. Not one of them will advocate the submission of the South to the supremacy of the National authority and its acquiescence in all the constitutional amendments, and in the legislation of Congress for the reconstruction of the Union.

What the South understands the key-note of the Democracy to mean, and what the Northern Democracy intend their Southern brethren shall understand is clearly indicated by the following from the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle:

There is little doubt that the democratic party will come into power at the next Presidential election. After that, how easy it will be to call a convention of the States. And how easy it will be for such a constitutional convention to undo every "result of the war" that touches the future sovereignty of the States? Such a convention can easily get rid of the present status of the Senate, and the Supreme Court, as now organized, if it pleases. It can do all that is needed to wipe out the usurpations of the party now in power. Nothing is irreversible which the mongrels have done to our Federal system, unless the South gives up. The dead can not be brought back, but all the sovereignty which has been stolen from the States can be regained or will be, if the South is not whipped in its manhood.

What does this mean? What is it, but a proposition to substitute the late rebel confederacy for the federal union? What is it but revolution of the most radical kind, changing the very character of our government, and re-inaugurrting the old Democratic sway with its class distinctions, its anarchical principles, secession, nullification, and the whole train of evils which it cost us a million lives and billions of treasure to get rid of? And with this programme of the Democracy before us—(we have many evidences that such is its programme)—what would the success of the Democracy be, short of the triumph of the rebellion through civil instead of military means?

For us to now permit the government to pass into the hands of the ex-rebels and their northern sympathizers, would be as traitorous and suicidal as it would have been for our commanders, any time during the war, to have carried their personal rivalries and jealousies so far as to have permitted the north to be overwhelmed by the hosts of the rebellion.

The loyal people of the United States cannot and must not permit such a consummation, unless they are prepared to surrender all they have gained during the last ten years, to declare the war for the UNION wrong and wicked, and to reverse all its results. Are the people prepared to do this? If not, the key-note of the Democracy is a solemn and startling warning to them, to cease blindly following selfish leaders, and to set principles high above persons. Whatever ambitious individuals may say or do, we must never for a moment lose sight of principles, or we shall suddenly discover that the alternative before us, is unconditional surrender to the hosts of disunion or another bloody civil war

INCOME TAX FOR 1870—INTERESTING INFORMATION FOR ALL WHO ARE CONCERNED.

[From the New York Post.]

By the Internal Revenue laws, as amended in 1870, it is the duty of every citizen whose gross income last year exceeded two thousand dollars, to make and render to the Assistant Assessor of the division in which he lives, a return of this income for taxation on or before the first day of March. The neglect to do this leaves it in the power of the Assessor to make a return for him according to the best information he can obtain, and increase the amount of tax 15 per cent., as a penalty for the neglect. The duty of making these returns has been very generally neglected, under the expectation that Congress would abolish the tax, but it is now improbable that anything will be done at the present session, and in order to avoid the penalty, cannot be too prompt in handing in their returns.

The taxable income of each person is determined by adding together the following items: The gains of profits of business for the year, the wages or salary received for services from any government, corporation, or other employer; the rents received from houses or lands: the interest on notes, bonds, or mortgages, or on money lent on any or no security; the profits of speculation in stocks, bonds or gold, and those obtained upon the sale of any houses or lands during the year which had been purchased within two years preceeding and the dividends upon stocks or shares, except that the dividends of corporations which have themselves withheld the tax from stockholders, and paid it to the United States, are not to be included, nor that part of the salary of officers of the United States from which the tax has been deducted at the time of the payment, nor any pension paid to a soldier or sailor.

From the aggregate income, as thus determined, each tax-payer will deduct the national, State, county and municipal taxes paid by him during the year; all losses in business, not including any estimated depreciation of values; the amount of interest paid during the year; the rent of land for cultivation and of premises for business purpose, and the wages of labor paid out for business purposes; the rent of the house and room occupied as a residence, but not the rental value, if owned by the tax payer himself; and the amount paid for ordinary repairs, but not for permanent improvements.

The remainder of the gross income, after these deductions are made, constitutes the net income for the year, and two thousand dollars are further to be deducted from this amount. The remainder is the taxable income, on which a tax of two and a half per cent is to be levied and paid. This tax is due and payable on or before the 30th day of April next; and a penalty of five per cent upon the amount of the tax, and of interest at the rate of one per cent a month, is to be levied for neglect to make payment at that time, or within ten days after the Collector shall have demanded the tax.

The returns of income made this year are not to be published, and the officers administering the law are required to keep them secret. Nor is any penalty to be levied for neglect or error on tax-payer's part, except after a full opportunity is afforded him to be heard, and to present evidence that he is not guilty of such neglect or error. But there is no provision in the law requiring the Assessor to demand a return, or to notify citizens of their obligations to make their returns. Every man is supposed to know the law, and a failure to obey it is such a neglect as incurs the penalty. It will, therefore, be necessary for tax-payers to seek their Assistant Assessors at once, and tender to them such a statement as we have described.

The Baptists of Iowa are keeping pace with the growth of the State. Recent reports show they they have eighteen associations, 349 churchus, 188 pastors, 19,750 members, and 158 meetinghouses.

SOUTH CAROLINA—KU-KLUX OUTRAGES.

The Ku-Klux have become so desperate in South Carolina, and in other portions of the South, the murders and outrages committed or perpetrated by them have become so numerous that the Governors of the respective States have been compelled to call upon the President of the United States to apply the strong arm of the government in the suppression of them. In obedience to these demands, President Grant has issued the following

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, It is provided in the Constitution of the United States that the United States shall protect every State in this Union on application of the Legislature, or of the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, against domestic violence; and whereas, it is provided in the laws of the United States that in all cases of insurrection in any State, or of obstruction to the laws thereof, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, on application of the Legislature of such State, or of the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, to call forth the malitia of any other States or States, or to employ such part of the land and naval force as shall be judged necessary for the purpose of suppressing such insurrection or of causing the laws to be duly executed; and whereas, I have received information that combinations of armed men are now disturbing the peace and safety of the citizens of the State of South Carolina and committing acts of violence in said State, of a character and to an extent which renders the power of the State and its officers unequal to the task of protecting life and property and securing public order therein; and whereas, the Legislature of said State is not now in session, and cannot be convened in time to meet the present emergency, and the Executive of said State has therefore made application to me for such part of the military force of the United States as may be necessary and adequate to protect said State and the citizens thereof against the domestic violence herein before mentioned, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas, the laws of the United States require that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith, by proclamation, command such insurgents to disperse and retire peacefully to their respective abodes within a limited time—

Now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do command the persons composing the unlawful combinations aforesaid to disperse, and to retire peaceably to their respective abodes within twenty days from this date.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 24th day of March, in the year of our Lord 1871, and of the independence of the United States the 95th.

By the President, U. S. GRANT.

HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

MR. BILLINGFELT Republican—and all the Democratic Senators in our State Legislature, says the Greensburg Herald, succeeded last Thursday afternoon, between times, while making a free use of their white handkerchiefs in trying to surpress the profuse flow of tears, (croco dile) in passing a resolution of extreme sympathy for Mr. Sumner, and of regret at his removal from the chairmanship of the committee on Foreign Relations. We have for some time past noticed that one of the means of determining what was right in politics, was to watch and see what Democracy was opposed to. Where the question had nothing in it to be determined by moral rules, this was a sure criterion. Those who have had any doubt as to the propriety or policy of displacing Mr. SUMNER, must have no difficulty now; since the Democracy have espoused his case, and offered their regrets and sympathies.

Pray when did Democracy ever before do any thing but abuse and deride Senator Sumner? Gentlemen, your tears on this question, will cement the Republican Party in acquiescenc in that change. We are glad you have shed them so soon; it will give you more time to gather a supply to weep on another and future occasion, over a mishap to your political calculations.

THE failure of John T. Alexander, the most celebrated stock raiser and large farmer of Illinois, is reported. The amont of liabilities is placed at $1,000,000, and of assets a larger sum, the inference being that the assets are not immediately available to satisfy the claims of creditors. Mr. Alexander is one of the Alexander brothers, whose operations in blooded stock, especially thoroughbred horses, in Kentucky, have been so extensive as to give them a national reputation. His 15,000 acre farm in Morgan county, Ill., and his Broadlands farm of 25,000 acres in Ford Co., are the the envy of all Northwestern farmers.

DEMOCRATIC EVIDENCE.

A remarkable scene, says the Buffalo Express, is described as having occurred last Saturday a week, in the room of the House Committee on Elections, and one which afforded a strong confirmation of the truth of accounts regarding the condition of terrorism in South Carolina.—Mr. M'Kissick, contesting the seat of Wallace, from the 4th S. Carolina District, applied for an extension of time in which to take testimony in the case. Objections were made by Mr. Wallace, on the ground that he dared not go back to his district at present. The committee was inclined to treat this objection very lightly, when Mr. Wallace asked permission to put some questions to Mr. M'Kissick, which was allowed. Wallace it should be said, is a Republican, and Mr. M'Kissick a Democrat, but one whose character for moderation and honesty, as shown by his conduct before the committee, is highly commendable. In reply to questions he acknowledged that he had advised Wallace to go to California and not to return to the district, for some time, for the reason that his life would be in danger. M'Kissick further related before the committee two instances within his personal cognizance in which twelve negroes had been murdered, and in one or two instances he had himself, in order to save the lives of negroes, had them arrested, and afterwards quietly, in his capacity as magistrate, had set them at liberty. This testimony, made forcible by its unquestioned truthfulness and the relation of details, it may well be believed, made a deep impression on those who heard it.

THE Methodist Conference at Wilmington, unanimously adopted a resolution condemning "gift enterprises," and "gambling at church fairs." The example set by churches in this respect has been most deleterious. With what consistency, says the Lebanon Courier, would the church set its face against the professional gamblers' vocation, when it indulged in the same offence when it could put money in its purse by so doing! The church should ever be strictly on its guard in respect to the influence of its example. If it would choose to do so, it could accomplish much in curbing that extravagance which is abroad, and which is doing more to debauch the morals of the people than any single instrumentality that Satan now has at work. It is making men grasping, hard and dishonest; it is a fearful destroyer of female virtue; in short, it is making Mammon a telling adversary of Christian principles. If there was more of that humility and earnest labor to make all men—rich or poor—better in their every-day life, which characterized the primitive Christians, the world would soon feel the grand effects of the efforts.

THE Senate has confirmed the naturalization treaty which was negotiated by Mr. Reverdy Johnson with the British Government, and finally concluded by Mr. Motley. The old doctrine that once a subject always a subject, has now been finally extinguished, and it belongs to the United States to have accomplished one of the greatest international achievements that any age has witnessed. The great principle, that a human being has a right to change the country in which he happened to be born for another, is now established beyond controversy. Indeed the converse of the propositian was so irrational that it is a matter of surprise that England should ever have disputed it.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

THERE is unquestionable proof, says the New Orleans Picayune, that the cotton crop of the United States last season considerably exceeded 4,000,000 bales. The largest crop ever produced in this country before the war was in 1859-60, which was 4,675,770 bales.—The average crop of the five years immediately preceeding the war was 3,848,000 bales. The result of last season's labor, is therefore, truly wonderful, and will stand in history as a lasting monument to the energy, perseverance and skill of a people working under almost overwhelming difficulties, political, social, financial and accidental.

MORE than 500,000 people bear testimony to the wonderful curative effects of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

KENTUCKY IN CONGRESS.

Hon. J. P. Knott's Amusing Speech on the St. Croix and Bayfield Railroad.

Mr. SPEAKER: If I should be actuated by any conceivable inducement to betray the sacred trust reposed in me by those to whose generous confidence I am indebted for the honor of a seat on this floor; if I could be influenced by any possible consideration to become instrumental in giving away, in violation of their known wishes, any portion of their interests in the public domain for the mere promotion of any railroad enterprise whatever, I should certainly feel a strong inclination to give this measure my most earnest and hearty support, for I am assured that its success would materially enhance the pecuniary prosperity of some of the

MOST VALUED FRIENDS

I have on earth; friends for whose accommodation I would be willing to make almost any sacrifice not involving my personal honor or my fidelity as the trustee of an express trust. And that fact of itself would be sufficient to countervail almost any objection I might entertain to the passage of this bill, not inspired by an imperative and inexorable sense of public duty.

But, independent of the seductive influences of private friendship, to which I admit I am, perhaps, as susceptible as any of the gentlemen I see around me, the intrinsic merits of the measure itself are of such an extraordinary character as to commend it most strongly to the favorable consideration of every member of this House, myself not excepted, notwithstanding my constituents, in whose behalf alone I am acting here would not be benefited by its passage one particle more than they would be by a project to cultivate an orange grove on the bleakest summit of Greenland's icy mountains. [Laughter].

Now, sir, as to those great trunk lines of railway, spanning the continent from ocean to ocean, I confess my mind has never been fully made up. It is true they may afford some trifling advantages to local traffic, and they may even in time become the channels of a more extended commerce. Yet I have never been thoroughly satisfied either of the necessity or expediency of project promising such meager results to the great body of our people. But with regard to

of the gigantic enterprise contemplated in this bill I never entertained the shadow of a doubt. [Laughter].

Years ago, when I first heard that there was somewhere in the vast terra incognita, somewhere in the bleak regions of the great Northwest, a stream of water known to the nomadic inhabitants of the neighborhood as the river St. Croix, I became satisfied that the construction of a railroad from the raging torrent to some point in the civilized world was essential to the happiness and prosperity of the American people, if not absolutely indispensable to the perpetuity of republican institutions on this continent. (Great laughter). I felt instinctively that the boundless resources of that would never be fully developed without a railroad constructed and equipped at the expense of the Government, and perhaps not then. (Laughter). I had an abiding presentiment that, some day or other, the people of this whole country, irrespective of party affiliations, regardless of sectional prejudices, and "without distinction of race, color or previous condition of servitude," would rise in their majesty and demand an outlet for the enormous agricultural productions of those vast and fertile pine barrens, drained in the rainy season by the surging waters of the turbid St. Croix. (Great laughter).

These impressions, derived simply and solely from the "eternal fitness of things," were not only strengthened by the interesting and eloquent debate on this bill, to which I listened with so much pleasure the other day, but intensified, if possible, as I read over this morning the lively colloquy which took place on that occasion. I will ask the indulgence of the House while I read which are sufficient, in my judgment, to place the merits of the great enterprise contemplated in the measure now under discussion beyond all possible controversy.

The honorable gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. Wilson), who I believe is managing this bill, in speaking of the character of the country through which the railroad is to pass, says this:

We want to have the timber brought to us as cheaply as possible. Now, if you tie up the lands in this way, so that no ride can be obtained to them—for no settler will go on these lands, for he cannot make a living—you deprive us of the benefi of th timber.

Now, sir, I would not have it by any means inferred from this that the gentleman from Minnesota would insinuate that the people out in his section desire this timber merely for the purpose of fencing up their farms so that their stock may not wander off and die of starvation among the bleak hills of the St. Croix. (Laughter). I read it for no such purpose, sir, and make no such comment on it myself. In corroboration of this statement of the gentleman from Minnesota, I find this testimony given by the honorable gentleman from Wisconsin, [Mr. Washburn], in speaking of these same lands he says:

Under the bill, as amended by my friend from Minnesota, nine tenths of the land is open to actual settlers at $2,50 per acre; the remaining one tenth is pine-timbered land, that is not fit for settlement, and never will be settled upon; but the timber will be cut off. I admit that it is the most valuable portion of the grant, for most of the grant is not valuable. It is quite valueless; and if you put in this amendment of the gentleman from Indiana you may as well just kill the bill, for no man and no company will take the grant and build the road.

I simply pause here to ask some gentleman better versed in the science of mathematics than I am to tell me if the timbered lands are in fact the most valuable portion of that section of country, and they would be entirely valueless without the timber that is on them, what the remainder of the land is worth which has no timber on it at all? (Laughter).

But further on I find a most entertaining and instructive interchange of views between the gentleman of Arkansas, (Mr. Rogers,) the gentleman from Wisconsin, (Mr. Washburn,) and the gentleman from Maine, (Mr. Peters,) upon the subject of pine lands generally, which I will tax the patience of the House to read:

"Mr. Rogers—Will the gentleman allow me to ask him a question?

"Mr. Washburn, of Wisconsin—Certainly.

"Mr. Rogers—Are these pine lands entirely worthless except for timber?

"Mr. Washburn, of Wisconsin—They are generally worthless for the other purposes. I am personally familiar with that subject. These lands are not valuable for purposes of settlement.

"Mr. Farnsworth—They will be after the timber is taken off.

"Mr. Washburn, of Wisconsin—No, sir.

"Mr. Rogers—I want to know the character of these pine lands.

"Mr. Washburn, of Wisconsin—They are generally sandy, barren lands. My friend from the Green Bay district (Mr. Sawyer) is himself perfectly familiar with this question, and he will bear me out in what I say, that these pine timber lands are not adapted to settlement.

"Mr. Rogers—The pine lands to which I am accustomed are generally very good. What I want to know is what is the difference between our pine lands and your pine lands.

"Mr. Washburn, of Wisconsin—The pine timber of Wisconsin generally grows upon barren, sandy land. The gentleman from Maine [Mr. Peters], who is familiar with pine lands, will, I have no doubt, say that pine timber grows generally upon the most barren lands.

"Mr. Peters—As a general thing pine lands are not worth much for cultivation.

And further on I find this pregnant question the joint production of the two gentlemen from Wisconsin.

"Mr. Paine—Does my friend from Indiana suppose that in any event settlers will occupy and cultivate those pine lands?

"Mr. Washburn, of Wisconsin—Particularly without a railroad?"

Yes sir, "particularly without a railroad." It will be asked after a while, I am afraid, if settlers will go anywhere unless the Government builds a railroad for them to go on. (Laughter.)

I desire to call attention to only one more statement, which I think sufficient to settle the question. It is one made by the gentleman from Wisconsin, (Mr. Paine,) who says:

"These lands will be abandoned for the present. It may be at some remote period there will spring up in that region a new kind of agriculture which will cause a demand for these particular lands; and they may then come into use and be valuable for agricultural purposes. But I know, and cannot help thinking that my friend from Indiana understands, that for the present, and for many years to come, these pine lands can have no possible value other than that arising from the pine timber which stands on them."

Now, sir, who, after listening to this emphatic and unequivocal testimony of these intelligent, competent, and able-bodied witnesses, (laughter,) who that is not as incredulous as St. Thomas himself, will doubt for a moment the Goshen of America is to be found in the sandy valleys and upon the pine-clad hills of the St. Croix? [Laughter.]

WHO WILL HAVE THE HARDIHOOD

to rise in his seat on this floor and assert that, excepting the pine bushes, the entire region would not produce vegetation enough in ten years to fatten a grasshopper? [Great laughter.] Where is the patriot who is willing that his country shall incur the peril of remaining another day without the amplest railroad connection with such an inexhaustible mine of agricultural wealth! [Laughter.] Who will answer for the consequences of abandoning a great and warlike people, in possession of a country like that to brood over the indifference and neglect of their Government? [Laughter.] How long would it be before they would take to studying the Declaration of Independence and hatching out

THE DAMNABLE HERESY OF SECESSION?

How long before the grim demon of civil discord would rear again his horrid head in our midst, "gnash loud his iron fangs and shake his crest of bristling bayonets?" [Laughter.]

Then, sir, think of the long and painful process of reconstruction that must follow, with its

CONCOMITANT AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION:

the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth articles. The sixteenth, it is of course understood, is to be appropriated to those blushing damsels who are, day, after day, beseeching us to let them vote, hold office, drink cocktails, ride astraddle, and do everything else the men do.—(Roars of laughter.) But above all, sir, let me implore you to reflect for a moment on the deplorable condition of our country in case of a foreign war, with all our ports blockaded, all our cities in a state of siege, the gaunt specter of famine brooding like a hungry vulture over our starving land; our commissary stores all exhausted, and our famishing in the field, a helpless prey to the insatiate demon of hunger; our navy rotting in the docks for want of provisions for our gallant seamen, and we without any railroad communication whatever with the prolific pine thicket of St. Croix. (Great laughter.)

Ah, sir, I could very well understand why my amiable friends from Pennsylvania (Mr. Myers, Mr. Kelley, and Mr. O'Neill) should be so earnest in their support of this bill the other day, and if their honorable colleague, my friend, Mr. Randall, will pardon the remark, I will say I considered his criticism of their action on that occasion as not only unjust but ungenerous. I knew they were looking forward with the far-reaching ken of enlightened statesmanship to

will be left unless speedily supplied with railroad connection in some way or other with this garden-spot of the universe. (Laughter.) And besides, sir, this discussion has relieved my mind of a mystery that has weighed upon it like an incubus for years. I could never understand before why there was so much excitement during the last Congress over the acquisition of Alta Vela. I could never understand why it was that some of our ablest statesmen and most disinterested patriots should entertain such of the untold calamities that were to befall our beloved country unless we should take immediate possession of that desirable island. But I see now that they were laboring under the mistaken impression that the Government would need the guano to manure the public lands on the St. Croix. (Great laughter.)

Now, sir, I repeat I have been satisfied for years that if there was any portion of the inhabited globe absolutely for want of a railroad, it was these teeming pine barrens of the St. Croix. (Laughter.) At what particular point on the noble stream such a road should be commenced I knew was immaterial, and so it seems to have been considered by the draughtsman of this bill. It might be up at the spring or down at the foot-log, or the watter gate, or the fish-dam, or anywhere along the bank, no matter where. (Laughter.) But in what direction it should run, or where it should terminate, were always to my mind questions of the most painful perplexity. I could conceive of no place on "God's green earth" in such straitened circumstances for railroad facilities as to be likely to desire or willing to accept such a connection. (Laughter.) I knew that would have it, for they both indignantly spurned the munificence of the Government when coupled with such ignominious conditions, and let this very same land grant die on their hands years and years ago rather than submit to the degradation of a direct communication by railroad with the piny woods of the St. Croix; and I knew that what the enterprising inhabitants of those giant young cities would refuse to take would have few charms for others, whatever their necessities or cupidity might be. [Laughter.]

Hence, as I have said, sir I was utterly at a loss to determine where the terminus of this should be, until I accidentally overheard some gentleman the other day mention the name of "Duluth." [Great laughter.] Duluth! The words fell upon my ear with peculiar and indescribable charm, like the gentle murmur of a low fountain stealing forth in the midst of roses, or the soft, sweet accents of an angel's whisper in the bright, joyous dream of sleeping innocence.

DULUTH!

'Twas the name for which my soul had panted for years, as the hart panteth for the water-brooks! [Renewed laughter.] But where was "Duluth? Never, in all my limited reading, had my vision been gladdened by seeing the celestial word in print. And I felt a profounder humiliation in my ignorance that its dulcet syllables had never before ravished my delighted ear. [Roars of laughter.] I was certain the draughtsman of this bill had never heard of it, or it would have been designated as one of the termini of this road. I asked my friends about it, but they knew nothing of it. I rushed to the library and examined all the maps I could find. (Laughter.) I discovered in one of them a delicate, hair-like line, diverging from the Mississippi near a place marked Prescott, which I supposed was intended to represent the river St. Croix, but I could nowhere find

DULUTH

Nevertheless, I was confident it existed somewhere, and that its discovery would constitute the crowning glory of the present century if not of all modern times. [Laughter.] I knew it was bound to exist, in the very nature of things; that the symmetry and perfection of our planetary system would be incomplete without it [renewed laughter;] that the elements of material nature would long since have resolved themselves back into original chaos if there had been such a hiatus in creation as would have resulted from leaving out

DULUTH.

[Roars of laughter.] In fact sir, I was overwhelmed with the conviction that not only existed somewhere, but that wherever it was, it was a great and glorious place. I was convinced that the greatest calamity that ever befell the benighted nations of the ancient world was in their having passed away without a knowledge of the actual existence of

DULUTH

DULUTH;

that their fabled Atlantis, never seen save by the hallowed vision of inspired poesy, was, in fact, but another name for

DULUTH;

that the golden orchard of the Hesperides was but a poetical synonym for the beer-gardens in the vicinity of

DULUTH.

[Great laughter.] I was certain that Herodotus had died a miserable death because in all his travels, and with all his geographical research, he had never heard of

DULUTH.

[Laughter.] I knew that if the immortal spirit of Homer could look down from another heaven than that created by his own celestial genius upon the long lines of pilgrims from every nation of the earth to the gushing fountain of poesy opened by the touch of his magic wand, if he could be permitted to behold the vast assemblage of grand and glorious productions of the lyric art called into being by his own inspired strains, he would weep tears of bitter anguish that instead of lavishing all the stores of his mighty genius upon the fall of Ilion it had not been his more blessed lot to crystalize in deathless song, the rising glories of

DULUTH.

(Great and continued laughter.) Yet, sir, had it not been for this map, kindly furnished me by the Legislature of Minnesota, I might have gone down to my obscure and humble grave in an agony of despair, because I could nowhere find.

DELUTH.

(Renewed laughter.) Had such been my melancholy fate, I have no doubt that, with the last feeble pulsation of my breaking heart, with the last faint exhalation of my fleeting breath, I should have whispered, "Where is

DELUTH?"

[Roars of laughter.] But, thanks be to the beneficence of that band of ministering angels who have their bright abodes in the far-off capital of Minnesota, just as the agony of my anxiety was about to culminate in the frenzy of despair, this blessed map was placed in my hands; and as I unfolded it a resplendent scene of ineffable glory opened before me, such as I imagine burst upon the enraptured vision of the wandering peri through the opening gates of Paradise. [Renewed laughter.] There, there, for the first time, my enchanted eye rested upon the ravishing word

"DULUTH."

This map, sir, is intended, as it appears from its title, to illustrate the position of

DULUTH

in the United States; but if gentlemen will examine it, I think they will concur with me in the opinion that it is far too modest in its pretentions. It not only illustrates the position of in the United States, but exhibits its relations with all created things. It even goes further than this. It lifts the shadowy veil of futurity and affords us a view of the golden prospects of far along the dim vista of ages yet to come.

DULUTH

If gentlemen will examine it they will find not only in the centre of the map, but represented in the centre of a series of concentric circles one hundred miles apart, and some of them as much as four thousand miles in diameter, embracing alike in their tremendous sweep the fragrant savannas of the sunlit South and the eternal solitudes of snow that mantle the ice-bound North. [Laughter.]—How these circles were produced is perhaps of these primordial mysteries that the most skillful paleologist will never be able to explain. [Renewed laughter.]—But the fact is, sir, is pre-eminently a central place, for I am told by gentlemen who have been so reckless of their personal safety as to venture away into those awful regions where is supposed to be that it is so exactly in the centre of the visible universe that the sky comes down a precisely the same distance all around it. [Roars of laughter.]

DULUTH

DULUTH

I find by reference to this map, that is situated somewhere near the western end of Lake Superior, but as there is no dot or other mark indicating its exact location I am unable to say whether it is actually confined to any particular spot, or whether "it is just lying around there loose." [Renewed laughter.] I really cannot tell whether it is one of those ethereal creations of intellectual frostwork, more intangible than the rose-tinted clouds of a summer sunset; one of those airy exhalations of the speculator's brain which I am told are ever flitting in the form of towns and cities along those lines of railroad built with government subsidies, luring the unwary settler as the mirage of the desert lures the famishing traveler on, and ever on, until it fades away in the darkening horizon or whether it is a real, bona fide, substantial city, all "staked off," with the lots marked with their owners' names, like that proud commercial metropolis recently discovered on the desirable shores of San Domingo. [Laughter.]

But, however that may be, I am satisfied.

DULUTH

is there, or thereabout, for I see it stated here on this map that it is exactly thirty-nine hundred and nine miles from Liverpool [laughter,] though I have no doubt for the sake of convenience, it will be moved back ten miles, so as to make the distance an even four thousand. [Laughter.]

Then, sir, there is the climate of unquestionably the most salubrious and delightful to be found anywhere on the Lord's earth. Now, I have always been under the impression as I presume other gentlemen have, that in the region around Lake Superior it was cold enough for at least nine months in the year to freeze the smoke-stack off a locomotive. [Great Laughter.] But I see it represented on this map that is situated exactly half way between the latitudes of Paris and Venice, so that gentlemen who have inhaled the exhilerating airs of the one or basked in the golden sunlight of the other may see at a glance that must be a place of untold delights [laughter], a terrestrial paradise, fanned by the balmy zephyrs of an eternal spring, clothed in the georgeous sheen of ever-blooming flowers, and vocal with the silvery melody of nature's choicest songsters.—[Laughter.] In fact, sir, since I have seen this map I have no doubt that Byron was vainly endeavoring to convey some faint conception of the delicious charms of

DULUTH

when his poetic soul gushed forth in the rippling strains of that beautiful rhapsodo—

"Know ye the land where the cedar and vine,
Where the flowers ever blossom, the beams ever shine;
Where the light wings of Zepher, oppressed with perfume,
Wax faint o'er the gardens of Gul in her bloom;
Where the citron and olive are fairest of fruit,
And the voice of the nightingale never is mute;
Where the tints of the earth and the hues of the sky,
In color though varied, in beauty may vie?"

[Laughter.]

As to the commercial resources of

DULUTH

sir, they are simply illimitable and inexhaustible, as it is shown by this map. I see it stated here that there is a vast scope of territory, embracing an area of over two million square miles, rich in every element of material wealth and commercial prosperity, all tributary to

DULUTH.

Look at it sir, (pointing to the map.) Here are inexhaustible mines of gold immeasurable veins of silver, impenetrable depths of boundless forest, vast coal measures, wide extended plains of richest pasturage, all, all embraced in this vast territory, which must, in the very nature of things, empty the untold treasures of its commerce into the lap of

DULUTH.

[Laughter.] Look at it, sir, (pointing to the map,) do you not see from these broad lines drawn around this immense territory that the enterprising inhabitants of intended some day to inclose it all in one vast coral, so that its commerce will be bound to go there whether it would or not. [Great laughter.] And here, sir, (still pointing to the map,) I find within a convenient distance the Piegan Indians, which, of all the many accessories to the glory of

DULUTH

DULUTH,

I consider by far the most inestimable. For, sir, I have been told that when the small-pox breaks out among the woman and children of that famous tribe, as it sometimes does, they afford the finest subjects in the world for the strategical experiments of any enterprising military hero who desires to improve himself in the noble art of war, [laughter;] especially for any valiant Lieutenant General whose

Trenchant blade, Toledo trusty,
For want of fighting has grown rusty,
And eats into itself for lack
Of somebody to hew and hack."

(Great laughter.)

Sir, the great conflict now raging in the Old World has presented a phenomenon in the annals of mankind, a phenomenon that has reversed all the traditions of the past as it has disappointed all the expectations of the present. A great and warlike people, renowned alike for their skill and valor, have been swept away before the triumphant advances of an inferior foe, like autumn stubble before a hurricane of fire. Aught I know the next flash of electric fire that shimmers along the ocean cable may tell us that Paris, with every fiber quivering with the agony of impotent despair, writhes beneath the conquering heel of her cursed invader. Ere another moon shall wax and wane the brightest star in the galaxy of nations may fall from the zenith of her glory never to rise again. Ere the modest violets of early spring shall ope their beauteous eyes the genius of civilization may chaunt the wailing requiem of the proudest nationality the world has ever seen, as she scatters her withered and tear-moistened lillies o'er the bloody tomb of butchered France. But, sir, I wish to ask if you honestly and candidly believe that the Dutch would have ever overrun the French in that kind of style if Gen. Sheridan had not gone over there and told King William and Von Moltke how he had managed to whip the Piegan Indians. (Great laughter.)

And here, sir, recurring to this map, I find in the immediate vicinity of the Piegans "vast herds of buffalo" and "immense fields of rich wheat lands."

[Here the hammer fell.]

[Many cries, "Go on! Go on!"]

The speaker—Is there objection to the gentleman from Kentucky continuing his remarks? The Chair has none. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. Knott.—I was remarking, sir, upon these vast "wheat fields," represented on this map in the immediate neighborhood of the buffaloes and the Piegans, and was about to say that the idea of there being these immense wheat fields in the very heart of a wilderness, hundreds and hundreds of miles beyond the utmost verge of civilization, may appear to some gentlemen rather incongruous—as rather too great a strain on the "blankets" of veracity. But, to my mind, there is no difficulty in the matter whatever. The phenomenon is very easily accounted for. It is evident that the Piegans sowed that wheat there and plowed it in with buffalo bulls. (Great laughter) Now, sir, this fortunate combination of buffaloes and Piegans, considering their relative positions to each other and to Duluth, as they are arranged on this map, satisfies me that Duluth is destined to be

THE BEEF MARKET OF THE WORLD.

Here, you will observe, (pointing to the map), are the buffaloes, directly between the Piegans and Duluth, and here, right on the road to Duluth, are the Creeks. Now, sir, when the buffaloes are sufficiently fat from grazing on those immense wheat-fields, you see it will be the easiest thing in the world for the Piegans to drive them on down, stay all night with their friends, the Creeks, and go into Duluth in the morning. (Great laughter.) I think I see them now, sir, a vast herd of buffaloes, with their heads down, their eyes glaring, their nostrils dilated, their tongues out, and tearing along towards Duluth, with about a thousand Piegans on their grass-bellied ponies, yelling at their heels! [Great laughter.] On they come! And as they sweep past the Creeks they join in the chase, and the way they all go, yelling, bellowing, ripping and tearing along, amid clouds of dust, until the last buffalo is safely penned in the stockyards of Duluth! [Shouts of laughter.]

Sir, I might stand here for hours and hours, and expatiate with rapture upon the prospects of Duluth, as depicted upon this map. But human life is too short, and the time of this House far too valuable to allow me to linger longer upon the delightful theme. I think every gentleman on this floor is as well satisfied as I am that Duluth is destined to become the commercial metropolis of the universe, and that this road should be built at once. I am fully pursuaded that no patriotic representative of the American people, who has a proper appreciation of the associated glories of Duluth and the St. Croix, will hesitate a moment to say that every able-bodied female in the land between the ages of 18 and 45 who in favor of "women's rights" should be drafted and set to work without delay. [Roars of laughter.] Nethless, sir, it grieves my very soul to be compelled to say that I cannot vote for the grant of lands provided for in the bill.

Ah! sir, you can have no conception of the poignancy of my anguish that I am deprived of the blessed privilege! [Laughter.] There are two insuperable obstacles in the way. In the first place my constituents, for whom I am acting here, have no more interest in this road than they have in the great question of culinary taste now perhaps agitating the public mind of Dominica, as to whether the il-

The originator of this wonderful medicine claims to have discovered in it a combination of more of Nature's most sovereign medicinal properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate cases which it has been found to conquer in the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculties, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While for the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula down to common Blotch Pimple or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, Syphilitic and Venereal Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald head, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by the powerful purifying and invigorating influence of "Liver Complaint." Bilious Disorders and Habitual Constipation it has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private Government stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. This medicine is Sold by Druggists at $1,0 a bottle. Prepared by R. V. ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis. Send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for the year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says

I take pleasure in recommending you Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

JOB WORK.—We are prepared to do all kinds of Job Work at the REPUBLICAN office. We are prepared to print the smallest cards, as well as the largest posters. We do our work well, and at the most reasonable rates. Our readers will remember that we obtained a Diploma from the County Fair last fall, for the best "Plain and Ornamental Printing." There is no establishment in the County can say as much. Bring, or send in your work. Give us a trial, and be convinced.

PAY UP.

Many of our readers have paid in advance. We have nothing but thanks for them, and they need not read this article any farther. It is not intended for them. But we have a large number of subscribers who have not paid last years subscription. Now friends this is not the way to support a paper. We have to pay cash for everything we purchase. Paper, ink, labor, all are cash. We know that we have not a subscriber on our books, who is not abundantly able to pay for the REPUBLICAN.

It is not because you are not able, but because you forget or neglect it. If you continue this course much longer it will cost you something extra. Remember our rates are $2,00 in advance; $2,50 if not paid within six months, and $3,00 if not paid till the end of the year.

THE pine forests of Pennsylvania are rapidly melting away. For ten years past the consumption of timber to supply the numerous saw-mills of Williamsport alone, has been immense. It is safe to assume that 300,000,000 feet are annually manufactured at Williamsport. If we go back for ten years, we have the enormous aggregate of 3,000,000,000 feet.

THERE are six vacant seats in the U. S. Senate as at present constituted. They are those of Goldthwaite, of Alabama, objected to on account of alleged illegal constitution of State Legislature; Vance of North Carolina, objected to on account of constitutional disability, and Blodgett, Georgia, whose credentials are objected to on the ground that he is not elected, as required by law, by the Legislature elected last preceding the vacancy.

THE Chicago Evening Post doubts the truth of the statement that Vallandigham intends to go to Indianapolis as political editor of the Sentinel. It gives as a reason for its disbelief, that while the people of Ohio would raise an almost unanimous ten-cent subscription to enable him to go, the people of Indiana would raise him an almost unanimous dollar subscription to pay him to stay away. It thinks Vallandigham will take the dollar subscription and stay away.

WHO that has seen a dangerous disease arrested by an able physician or a good medicine but values both? Be it your family physician to whom you owe so many escapes from aches and ails, or Dr. Ayer's inimitable remedies:—his Sarsaparilla that renewed your vitality or Cherry Pectoral that cured a painful cough, or his Ague Cure that expelled the freezing ague and burning fever from your blood. Who that has been relieved by any of these agencies but feels grateful for them all? [Bangor Times.

WE wonder if the Democrats of New Hampshire have not learned some of "the ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," of their fellow democrats of New York and elsewhere, that has enabled them to carry their congressmen in that State. We notice that in the town of Manchester they have reported 1703 votes, while there last year, they polled only 909. The Republican vote only fell off 22 in the same town. So also in Concord; they increased their vote from 454 to 1133; while there the Republican vote was only 17 less.

SENATOR BROWNLOW publishes a card in the Knoxville Chronicle, defending himself against certain charges contained in a pamplet written and circulated by John Baxter, whom he denounces as "an overbearing, insolent bully, and who he asserts, is indebted to him for his escape from the gallows, or at least from languishing in chains in a military prison, in punishment for his offer during the rebellion to "take a bribe from Jeff. Davis of half a million of money to come North in the garb of a Union man and buy up the press, and get up a fire in the rear against the Federal army."

THE CURRENCY BILL.

The press of the country, North, South, East and West, are discussing the merits of H. R. Bill No. 28, "to make the volume of the currency self-adjusting, according to the wants of the people," which was introduced in the House of Representatives on the 13th instant, by Hon. B. F. Butler, read twice, and referred to the committee on banking and currency, and ordered to be printed. We extract the following from the Washington papers:

General Butler's new currency bill, introduced into the House during the week, contains many features that will commend it to public favor, and among no class so much as the solid, hard-working business men of the country. A synopsis of its provisions is as follows:—It provides for the preparation of bonds of the United States of the denomination of one hundred dollars and upward, bearing interest at the rate of three and sixty-five one hundredths per cent. per annum: said bonds to clearly express the right of the United States to change said rate of interest after notice by the Secretary of Treasury shall have been given, and conspicuously posted in the offices of the Assistant Treasurers of the United States for one year prior to such change. Said bonds, when prepared as aforesaid, shall be lodged with the Assistant Treasurers in amounts proportioned to the business of their respective offices at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, and shall be charged to said Assistant Treasurers on the books of the Treasurer of the United States. It shall be the duty of any Assistant Treasurer to countersign, date, and deliver said bonds in sums of one hundred dollars, or any multiply thereof, to any person who may pay therefor their par value in legal-tender notes of the United States. When any person shall demand of any Assistant Treasurer redemption of any of said bonds, it shall be the duty of such Assistant Treasurer to pay in legal-tender notes, which the Secretary of the Treasury shall furnish to him for that purpose, the principal of said bonds with accrued interest thereon, and to cancel and forward the bonds thus redeemed to Washington forthwith, in such manner as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe.

That the necessities of business men all over the country are taxed to an enormous extent for the want of more currency to do business with, is no longer a question of argument. Were it not so there would not be the same clamor for relief, and the willingness to receive any remedy looking to that end. The commendable feature of this bill is the convertibility of the bonds into a convenient denomination of currency, thus preventing the necessity of business men depending entirely u on national banks for their accommodation, whose facilities to meet the demands of trade are so limited at times by their restricted circulation as to render a discount more a matter of speculation than legitimate banking. This bill, we think, provides to some extent the antidote for just such evils which invariably lead to the periodical stringencies in our monetary affairs. As long as the securities of our circulation are based upon the responsibility of the Government, confidence in their value will last among the people, and labor will accept them as safe compensation for its earnings. Financial theorists may speculate as much as they wish; money centers in New York and elsewhere may break from causes of their own excesses; but as long as the people are satisfied that the money they receive is indorsed by their own Government their security will be as easy and safe as a mortgage upon valuable real estate.

As a matter of commercial importance, if these bonds were redeemable in gold after a period of thirty or forty years, no doubt much of the unnecessary uneasiness of their producing an unhealthy inflation would be dispelled, and the opposition to the advantages proposed to be conferred upon hard-working business men would subside into quiet acquiesence. Let the experiment be made; It will at least be one step toward putting our national debt to work.—Chronicle, Washington, D. C., March 19, 1871.

The currency bill, introduced by Gen. Butler in the House last Monday, is designed to prevent the frequent tightness of the money market and consequent derangement of business, with fluctuating prices, which now grow out of the arbitrary limitation of the volume of the currency to $700,000,000; neither more nor less. The bill, in effect, relieves Congress of the responsibility for contraction or expansion, and remits the matter to the decision of the people themselves, who can take currency from the Treasury or return it thereto as they choose. The plan is not new or original with Gen. Butler, having been ably urged for years by the New York Mercantile Journal.—Herald, Washington, D. C., March 19.

The following memorial has been presented to Secretary Boutwell. It will be seen to include all the features of the currency bill introduced by Mr. Butler, as well as the use of 3.65 bonds in making up bank reserve, the lack of which we pointed out as a defect in that bill. The signatures represent over two hundred million dollars of New York capital, mainly engaged in banking. The object is to supply a partial redemption of surplus greenbacks, (which Mr. Boutwell says it would do,) and to remit the whole subject of expansion and contraction to the people. The plan is now under consideration by committees of the New York Chamber of Commerce and National Board of Trade. Its introduction into the former was the signal for a warmly commendatory leader in the New York Tribune.

To the Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell, Secretary of the United States Treasury:

In view of the fact that there is no opportunity offered to the public, at the present time, for converting the non-interest bearing promises of the Government into ipterest bearing obligations, except by purchasing United States bonds on the open market at a premium.—

The undersigned respectfully request the Honorable Secretary to submit for the consideration of the present Congress, a plan for there demption or conversion of the present legal tender notes, by issuing therefor (at the option of the holder) bonds, of the denomination of one thousand dollars and its multiple, to be made payable on demand, in the said legal tender notes, which shall be held for the purpose of such re-conversion; the bonds to bear interest at the rate of three and sixty-five one-hundredths (3.65-100) per cent. per annum.

And also that permission be granted to the National Banks to count said bonds in the reserve required to be kept by law. Signed by the leading bankers and merchants of New York.—National Republican, Washington, D. C., March 18.

THE MONTHLY NOVELETTE FOR APRIL.—We have received the April number of "The Monthly Novelette," and find that with age it grows more interesting. The fact of it is, this magazine contains none but interesting reading matter, such as the people like, stories, poetry, wit and humor, and some noted illustrations, and is entirely free from dull lectures and reviews, for which ladies care but little. As the Monthly Movelette is only 20 cents a number, or $2.00 per year, it should be in the hands of one hundred thousand readers before the year closes. The contents of the April number are varied, as follows:—"The Baronet's Daughter," illustrated; "Russian and Finland Views;" "Sunshine;" "Antagonism;" "Last Words;" "My Hours of Peril;" &c., &c., OUR JUVENILE DEPARTMENT.—"A False Step; or, The Fortunes and Misfortune of Fred Wilder;" "By Hook or by Crook;" "Anecdotes Wit and Humor;" "A Portrait of Queen Elizabeth." Thomes & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston, are the publishers, and they will send a sample copy of "The Monthly Novelette" on receipt of 15 cents.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES.—As wealth is for the most part accumulated by the constant saving of small sums, so knowledge is acquired by constant, though it may be almost imperceptible, acquisitions. "Line upon line" is the one sure way of conquering the difficulties that lie in the student's path. The saving of time, even its moments, is an important element. Some wait for great opportunities, suffering the days, months, and even years, to pass away in mere resolves to become learned. The choice of a profession, a calling, an object of attainment in the pursuit of knowledge, and, not a resolution to work, merely, but a working right on, in season and out of season, saving the moments, is the surest way to reach the goal.

SOMETHING NEW
UNDER THE SUN.
A New Era In Medicine.
☞Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.
☞Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.
☞Let all who can believe facts, and can have faith in evidence, read the following.
Know all men by these presents. That, on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Haydrick to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: "That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Maggiel's Pills and Salve, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.
JAMES SMEITRE, Notary Public,
[L. S.] 14 Wall St. New York.

June 1st, 1866.
DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS, 116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.
WILSON HARVEY,
NEW YORK, April 7, 1866. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:
NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.
My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2d Avenue.
J. HARDY, 119 Greeck St.

EXTRACTS FROM VARIOUS LETTERS.
"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."
"Your Pills are marvellous."
"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."
"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."
"I gave half of one of your Pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."
"My nausea of a morning is now cured."
"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears, and the noise has left."
"Send me two boxes, I want one for a poor family."
"I enclose a dollar, your price is 25 cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."
"Send me five boxes of your Pills."
"Let me have three boxes of your Pills by return mail."

I Have over 200 such Testimonials as these, but want of space compels me to conclude.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS,
And all erruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

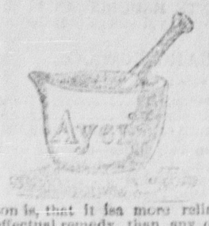
Medical.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

For all the the Purpose of a Laxative medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every county and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill.—The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, knows that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterous drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal vicera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions from the stomach' bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, BILLIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILLIOUS COLIC and BILLIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back or Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S

in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflamation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restore the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to undoubted patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Hitting the Nail on the Head.

In driving a nail only two things can be done; you must either hit it or miss it. Which you do makes a great difference in the result. In the former case a good thing is done. A nail is driven home. And how much depends often on a well driven nail. A stage falls down, the men at work on the building depended upon it for their security, perhaps for their lives. What occasioned the fall! One poorly driven nail. The man who drove that nail did not "hit the nail on the head," and he paid dear for the blunder. A nail is being driven; the hammer held by a careless hand slips, and a thumb is crushed, because the man was not careful to hit the nail on the head.

A man once wanted a boy to learn a trade. He advertised for one, and told all the applicants to call the next morning. Morning came, and with it such a crowd of boys each eager to secure the place, that the man did not know how to select the one he wanted. He hit upon this expedient: He told all the boys to go with him out into the yard, and said thus to them: "I do not want but one boy, and here are forty of you, all strangers to me. Now I am going to drive a nail into this post, and the boy who will stand off ten paces and throw this stick and hit that nail on the head shall have the place."

So he drove the nail, paced off the ground, and gave each boy his chance. They all failed. Not one of them came anyway near the nail. They were all disappointed, and went away.

The next morning when the man opened the door of his factory, he saw one little boy standing alone outside. He recognized him as one of the boys who was there the day before.

"What do you want this morning, my boy?"

"Please, sir, will you let me try once more to hit the nail on the head?"

The man readily consented and went with him down into the yard, and, to his surprise, the boy hit the mark every time. This was quite surprising, and the man said to him, "How is this. You tried yesterday and failed every time; you try again to-day and you succeed every time?"

The boy gave this explanation: "My father and mother are very poor and I wanted to find something to do, so that I could help them. I wanted the place very much. I knew I could learn to "hit the nail on the head. 'so I practiced till I could hit it every time."

The man was pleased, and gave the boy the place. Then the boy said this to himself: "I got this place over all others by hitting the nail on the head. I must keep it in the same way. In everything that I do I will always try to hit the nail on the head. So, early and late, he was always attentive to whatever was given him to do. He wasted no time, he slighted no work. He could always be relied upon, and when his trade was learned he was promoted to the place of foreman of the department. Here he was found so useful that he was made superintendent of all the establishment, and finally was made a partner in the firm. He was found to be indispensable to its success. He always hit the nail on the head.

This much of our story is for the boys who are looking round to see what there is to do, and waiting for something to turn up for their advantage. The best way is to stop waiting and go to work and turn it up. Always be careful how you strike. Learn how to hit the nail on the head, and you may calculate on success every time.

The story is not completed. We have a great deal more to say to more classes than one about "hitting the nail on the head," but we do not believe in long stories any more than we do in wrong stories, so we will stop.

FRESH COW.—Abraham Valentine offers for sale, a first rate milch cow. The calf of which is about three weeks old, he will retain.

FIRE.—A new dwelling house belonging to Jacob Smith near Howard Borough, was burned one day last week. There was no insurance.

FOR SALE.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that J. S. Barnhart, Esq., offers for sale a good Photograph Car. Here is a chance for a bargain.

ABSENT.—H. N. McAllister, one of the ablest Lawyers in the State, has been absent for over one week. He is, we believe in the city of Philadelphia. May he long live to enjoy the esteem and friendship of his fellow citizens.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. Belford, has returned from Lewistown, and will remain in this place for some time, to attend to those who may desire anything done, professionally by him. Dr. Belford is a good dentist, and has made for himself an enviable reputation.

RESIDENCE.—On Friday the 24th inst., the residence of Benjamin Frederick, near Mill Hall, in Bald Eagle tp., Clinton county, was totally destroyed by fire. We have not learned the particulars. Hope the building was insured. Every body should be insured. Do not neglect it.

WELL MERITED.—Messrs. Forster & Deeling, are doing a first class business at their new and splendid store on Allegheny street. They keep constantly a large and well selected stock of goods, are clever whole-souled men and well merit the success with which they are meeting. Call and see them.

REPORT of Hunter's Run School, No. 2, Liberty township, for term ending March 24, 1871—G. L. Morlack, Teacher: Whole number in attendance 28; per cent. of attendance for term, 81; spelling, 28; reading, 24; written arithmetic, 18; Geography, 6; Grammar, 6; Declamation, 12; Composition, 7; Scripture exercises, daily.

GIVE US NOTICE.—Subscribers to the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN who intend to change their place of residence, should not fail to notify us where they wish their papers sent after April 1st. It will save us trouble if you will give us the name of your present Post Office, as well as the name of the office to which you desire the paper sent in future.

SCALDED.—On Tuesday the 21st inst., a little son, about three years old, of George Bowes, residing in Liberty tp., in this county, was playing around the stove, upon which was sitting a tea-kettle of boiling water. The child accidentally pulled the tea-kettle over on its head and shoulders, and was scalded so severely, that its recovery was impossible. It suffered intensely until Thursday the 23rd inst., about noon when it died.

SOMEBODY, who professes to know all about it, says that the cause of accidents with coal oil lamps, generally speaking, is letting the oil burn too low in lamps. As the oil burns down a highly inflamable gas gathers above its surface, and as the oil decreases the gas increases. A slight jar will often ignite this gas and cause an explosion. Such accidents are said to be impossible, if the oil is not allowed to burn more than half way down in the lamp, and the lamp should be filled daily, and always in the morning.

Y. M. C. A.—The regular monthly business meeting will be held at the Lecture Room of the Association, on Friday evening next, 31st inst. A number of questions of interest will come before the Association. Who shall go to the International Convention at Washington? Shall we have one of the series of two-day meetings proposed to be held in Pennsylvania by the Ex. Com., in Bellefonte? What shall be done with the books which are accumulating?—These and many other questions affecting the Association, the Christian public, and indeed all our citizens, will, we understand, be considered. Ladies, specially invited. All are welcome.

WHY is one of our lady school teachers in town like a successful sportsman? Because she is an accomplished HUNTER. Watchman 24th inst.

Pretty good Joe! But can you tell why all the lady teachers of Bellefonte are not like the associate Editor of the Watchman? Because they possess brains.

Still another.—Can you tell Joe, why Prof. D. H. Hastings the able and efficient principal of our public schools, in in the Borough is like the President of Yale College? We give you one week to answer.

ONE MORE.—Why are the Editors of the Watchman and Tyrone Herald, like the Indian tales in Gen. Jas. S. Brisbin's new book? Because they are things exaggerated.

HARDWARE STORE.—The new building on Allegheny street, recently erected by Messrs. Irwin & Wilson, contains one of the finest store rooms in Central Pennsylvania, and we think there are few better or handsomer in the State.—The plan of the building was drawn by our fellow-townsman, G. W. Tate, who is one of the best architects and draftsmen in the State. We noticed this building some three months since; but unfortunately were not correct in some of our statements in regard to the mechanics who did the work. We now write to correct our blunder.

The excavation and foundation was the work of A. Stewart, of Pleasant Gap; cut stone work by H. D. Yerger, than whom there is no better stone-cutter in the State; the brick work by the Kennedy Brothers; contracter, Chas. McCafferty; the carpenter work by H. N. Bartley; Planing Mill work, by Wm. V. Hughes; stair and baluster work, by Irwin & High, drawer work, by H. P. Harris; painting, by Charles Dugan, contractor, assisted by Samuel Nicholls, Thomas Rhoads and George Cox; roofing (gravel) by W. H. Rankin, Williamsport, Pa.; iron work, by Todd & Duncan; tin-work, by Wetsler & Twitmire, and W. B. Savage; plastering by E. D. Noll.

The building is three stories, 125 feet deep, 25 feet front. The stairs are in the middle of building, with light from roof. The front is iron and glass, large French plate, size 5½ by 10½ feet.

The basement, first and second stories, are devoted entirely to the Hardware trade, and so arranged that every department is kept separate, and made convenient for customers to see and examine all the stock. The House will be kept well filled with goods of every kind belonging to the trade, and disposed of at small advance. No pains will be spared to give entire satisfaction to all their old patrons as well as the new.

We would like to give a more minute description of this Hardware House; but our space forbids. Suffice it to say that the firm of Irwin & Wilson is one of the best and most reliable in the State, and their word is as good as Goverment Bonds. They have stoves and everything kept in a hardware store. Give them a call and satisfy yourselves. You will save money. In a short time we will refer to this subject again. In the meantime, call and see them and save money.

TREE BUTCHERS.—This is the time that itinerant gardeners go around to trim trees. Some have already finished their work in some localities, and are awaiting the return of milder weather to make fresh onslaught. It is strange that this matter seems to be considered a trivial thing, and that any one can perform the work, but if our citizens will notice; we have scarcely a fine shaped shade tree in the town. The larger branches are sawed off, in many cases tearing the bark off still lower down than the point sawed, and this being exposed to the weather causes decay, and the tree is made worthless, or at best a mishapen, ugly thing.

This does not apply to proper trimming, and pruning, and wiring up to keep straight, and all that an experienced gardener would do,, but deprecates this hacking and sawing indiscriminately, by irresponsible parties, who only go into the business to make a little money easily, and who do not know their business, and do not care for the good of their employers, or the benefit derived by the pedestrians in hot weather by the agreeable shade that might be derived from well-cared for trees.

For a good segar go to Green's Drug Store.

HOW TO KEEP A SITUATION.—It is a sad time just now for many who depend upon their salaries for the support of themselves and families. So many men are thrown out of employment because the times are so dull; their services are not needed in stores and workshops.—But some men and boys are always retained. Do you know who are the fortunate ones? They are those who are the most useful, who do their work thoroughly, and are the most obliging and economical.

Those young men who watch the time to see the very second their working hour is up—who leave, no matter what state their work may be in, at precisely the instant—who calculate the extra amount they can slight their work, and yet not get reproved—are lavish of their employer's goods, will always be the first to receive notice that times are dull, and their services are no longer required.

S. S. ASSOCIATION.—The Bellefonte S. S. Teachers Association will meet at the Lecture Room of the Y. M. C. A., on Monday evening next. The elements of success in Sabbath School teaching is the subject which will occupy the attention of the meeting. H. Y. Stitzer, Esq., is the President of the Association, The design is to meet on the first Monday evening of each month.

RED COLLAR.—Jacob Shrom & Co., on Allegheny street, at the sign of the "Red Collar" and next door to post office, are prepared to furnish harness, double or single, tug harness, saddles, bridles, collars, &c., &c., to all who may favor them with a call. They sell cheap at prices to suit the times.

For the REPUBLICAN.

PORT MATILDA M. E. CHURCH.

MR. EDITOR:—A word or two from me seems to be necessary in order to correct some misrepresentations in regard to the financial condition of the M. E. Church, of Port Matilda. When the church was dedicated in 1869, it was fondly hoped it would soon and easily be relieved from embarrassment. But the decline of business and about $700 of unrealized subscriptions, with pressing creditors, brought the church into an embarrassed condition, with a debt of $1400 at the close of 1870. Since then some claims have been paid. A writ was issued a short time ago and placed in the hands of the Sheriff against the church. The Central Pennsylvania Conference learning of this raised a collection of $500 for their benefit.

This has been applied to satisfying the creditors, leaving with what the congregation has raised and paid, a balance yet to be raised of about $750. From this it will be seen that the rumor raised and circulated by an interested party, that the conference "wiped out the debt" is without foundation in fact.

There are about $200 of subscriptions yet unpaid, which are considered reliable, leaving a balance, to be provided for of $550.

The claims against the church are pressing, and help from abroad is greatly needed. The congregation are struggling to have the church entirely free from debt. Some of them have made very great sacrifices in order to secure that object.

Some time ago the ladies prepared a quilt, to be voted for between the Pastors of Half Moon and Port Matilda circuits. The votes were to be 25 cents each, and the proceeds were for liquidating this debt on the church. Some of the friends in Half Moon, said their circuit should poll 4 votes for every one in Port Matilda circuit.

If this is made good they will have to bestir themselves, as the friends on Port Matilda circuit are doing their best. It is proposed to collect the votes and determine the result by the first of May.

The efforts of a poor, noble hearted struggling people, to free their church from debt, deserve praise and assistance. Contributions will be most gratefully received by the Pastor, Rev. J. E. Craig, Port Matilda. The object is worthy and is earnestly commended to the consideration of the benevolent.

ATTACHMENT TO NEWSPAPER.—A cotemporary says: The strong attachment of subscribers to a well conducted newspaper is fully confirmed by publishers. "Stop my paper!" words of dread to new beginners in the business lose their terror after a paper has been published for a term of years. So long as a paper pursues a just, honorable and judicious course, meeting the wants of its customers in all respects, the ties of friendship between the subscribers and the paper are as hard to break by any outside third party as the links which bind old friends in business or social life. Occasionally defects and errors in a newspaper are overlooked by those who have become attached to it through its perusal for years. They may sometimes become dissatisfied with it on account of something which has slipped into its columns, and may stop taking it; but the absence of the familiar sheet at their house or office for a few weeks becomes an insupportable deprivation, and they hasten to take it again, and possibly apologize for having stopped it.—This we believe to be the common experience in the history of all established newspapers. No friendship on earth is more constant than that contracted by the reader for a journal which makes an honest and earnest effort to merit his continued support.

BE A MAN.—Foolish spending is the father of poverty. Be not ashamed of work. Work for the best salary or wages you can get, but work for half price rather than be idle. Be your own master, and do not let society or fashion swallow up your individuality—hat, coat and boots. Do not eat up or wear out all you can earn. Compel selfish body to spare something for profits saved.—Be stingy to your own appetite, but merciful to others' necessities. Help others and ask not help for yourself. See that you are proud. Let your pride be of the right kind. Be too proud to be lazy; too proud to give up without conquering every difficulty; too proud to wear a coat you cannot afford to buy; too proud to be in company that you cannot keep up with in expenses, too proud to lie, or steal, or cheat; too proud to be stingy.—Ex.

BITTERS.—S. S. Harris, M. D. of New York says of Mr. Speer's Wine—"I find it to be an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, preferable to all other wines." The "Wine Bitters" has his pure Wine as a base, only being made bitter by the bitter Principles of such herbs and roots as are in daily use by the Medical Faculty. Try them, and you will use no other. Sold by Druggists.

DELIGHTFUL Perfumery at Green's.

EDEN SEMINARY—AN ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

It is with pleasure we publish the following address, delivered at the close of Eden School, Unionville, Pa., on the 24th inst., by Miss Lida R. Wright Assistant Preceptress of that school. It is really excellent, and we ask for it a hearty perusal by all our readers and all friends of education:

EDEN SEMINARY, March 24th 1871.

Our gifted poet Longfellow tells me that "life is real," and sage and philosopher have echoed the words until they have become a maxim. The care, free pleasure, loving sons and daughters of Eve have caught the refrain, and with smiles on their lips and laughter in their tones, have repeated it without realizing for a moment the import of the words. And yet, if we pause to think, we can but see that poet, sage, and philosophy, are right, life is real. To day we are lured on by a bright specter, shadowy, vague, and uncertain, but with a glowing light encircling it that possesses for us a strange sascination. To-morrow, when we reach forth our hands to grasp it, we find but empty air, the delusive phantom has vanished. If to day we live only for ourselves, selfishly seeking for that which will give us greatest pleasure, regardless of the comfort or happiness of others, when tomorrow comes we will find our cup of joy incomplete, and bitterest tears may not atone for the wrong we have done. It is true all suffer, none are left untouched by the chastening hand of affliction, but trials bravely boarne, only strengthen and purify us, and leave us with a finer sense of the true and beautiful. It is only the good and noble who find life a pleasant reality, and they find it so because truest enjoyment is only found in doing with a will and energy, that which the hands find to do. The rough, toil-embrowned hands of the honest laborer are a mark of true manhood, for there is a dignity in labor that cannot be concealed. We may admire for a moment the lily white hands that are idly crossed all the day long; but if we compare the lives of those who possess and direct those hands, we will see how the sinewy arm and brawny frame of him who labors with an uprightness of heart that will never falter, will rise up and overshadow the idler.

And so it is with us, in our work here, if we spend in idleness the precious moments of youth, life's sunny seed-time, when the harvest time comes we will find no golden sheaves to gather. If we neglect to store our minds with good and useful things, now when old age is upon us we will find our lives to be a sad failure, and only sorrow and regret, where there should be gladness and rejoicing.

The effect of education upon the countenance is truly remarkable, we have all noticed how it lights the eye, expands the brow, irradiates the whole features. I have seen faces a few times that have shone with such a holy light, so grand and radiant that I have imagined they have caught, from afar, a faint gleam of light from the Celestial City.

Let us add to cultivated minds, the jewels of truthfulness, purity, virtue, and humility, and our crowns will be well set with precious gems, scarcely less than complete!

And now my words of farewell must be few and brief. I have been with you four months, aiding you as I could. You have done your parts nobly and well. How well I have performed mine, is for you to say. The time we have spent together has been to me both pleasant and profitable, and the remembrance of it will be always cherished. The form and features of each one of you are indelibly impressed upon the tablet of memory. So closely have I noticed your actions and watched your progress, that I have traced out the future of each one of you. You have all worked well during our school term, and if, through life you are as faithful workers, your futures will not fail to be as brilliant as I predict. It is possible, of course, but not probable, that we will ever meet again as we have met to day. Some of you I may not meet again, but I will watch the course of each one of you with an interest you know not of. May success crown your lives! And when our dusty, way-worn garments are exchanged for the spotless robes of immortality, and around the great white Throne we are gathered, may I there see the glorious fulfillment of my hopes for you—a grand life, a grander Eternity!

IN another column read advertisement headed "What $2 will do." Here is a chance for the small sum of $2 to win a Farm, a House, a sewing Machine, a large sum or some other valuable prize.

Every ticket will draw something. Nothing risked, nothing won. Try your luck; you get at the start a Steel Engraving worth more than the $2. The parties having it in charge act under a Charter of the State of Maryland, come highly recommended, and are all men actively engaged in business. We are satisfied of fair play.

LIGHT trout and bait rods; silk and hair, hair, linen, cotton and Japan grass lines; flies, hooks, baskets, bait-boxes, leaders, silk worm gut, rings, keepers, &c., &c., at Green's.

FURNITURE AND UNDERTAKING.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of H. P. Harris, dealer in furniture and Undertaker. Mr. Harris has opened a furniture store, on Allegheny street, in the new building recently erected by Edward Brown, Esq., where he is prepared to furnish his old customers, as well as all who may favor him with their custom, furniture of all kinds at greatly reduced prices. His furniture is of the very best kind, and while, as above remarked—he sells cheap—he at the same time guarantees satisfaction. Mr. Harris is a practical workmen, understands his business well, and is the oldest furniture dealer in the place. As an undertaker he has no superior in this county. It has been the business of his life. He understands it in all its particulars, and is just the man to bury our dead. He superintends all funerals in such a manner as to make the mourners feel that all will be right without their interference at a time when they do not feel like interfering. In short, Mr. Harris understands his business, and we can, without hesitancy, recommend him to the public. In the furniture department he has secured the services of John Bubb, Esq., one of the best painters and grainers in the country. Call and see him at his new rooms. Shop at the old stand on Howard street. We wish him abundant success.

PETER'S MUSICAL MONTHLY for April, is to hand, and puts us in mind of the honest farmer who once attended a show. He listened with delight to the performance until about half through, when, suddenly jumping up, he made his way to the doorkeeper and handed the astonished functionary a bright half dollar, which was politely refused, on the plea that he had already paid for his admittance, when the old man rejoined:—"Look a'here mister, I have had more'n fifty cents worth of fun already, and I'm too honest too take more'n I've paid for, so if you don't take that 'ere half dollar I'm going out, cause you can't make a thief of me noways."

On the old man's principle, people who buy "Peters' Musical Monthly" should renew their subscriptions every month, the publisher gives in each issue nearly $5 worth of good music, and charges but thirty cents a number, or $3 a year for it.

Peters is a public benefactor, and his praises should be sung all over the country. Send him thirty cents for the April number, or $1 for the last four numbers, and you will get just $20 worth of the latest and best music. Address J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway, New York.

LADIES.—A new lot of French and American Paper, with initials upon it, just received at Rankin's Book Store.

EGGS.—With many a cackle of rejoicing hens is the season for fresh eggs ushered in once more. Again we dare buy our eggs of storekeepers and hucksters, and again we do welcome fresh eggs to the breakfast table, confident that they are "eggs that is eggs," and not advanced in chickenhood. Again has pater familias a chance to grumble if they are boiled a half second too long or not long enough, and poor Bridget, not learned in the mysteries of second hands, comes in for her full share of the "unpleasantness." Valcable to health strengthening in its power to enervate the human system, lucious fresh eggs are a delicate quickener to dainty appetites, either in an omelette or poached, boiled or fried, or in the many varied ways known to skillful housekeepers.—Hail to fresh eggs and other delicacies of spring.

THE following complimentary notice of our friend Mr. James N. Kline, we clip from the Williamsport daily Gazette and Bulletin:

"PERSONAL.—Our genial young friend Mr. James N. Kline, who has for the past seven years held forth with Mr. L. McDowell, hardware merchant, on Third street, has resigned his position there and is about to hie him westward. He will first pay a hurried visit to his parents in Milroy, Mifflin county, and will then proceed to Osceola, Osage Co., Mo., at which place he has been offered a fine opportunity to engage in business, if he feels so disposed. "Jim" has a thorough knowledge of his business, and as he expects to engage in business with a gentleman of limited experience, his experience will be of great value to the new firm and should be equivalent to a large amount of capital. He will be missed from this city, where he has troops of warm friends; but we hope he 'may live long and prosper' in his new 'speer.'"

GARDEN SEEDS.—We call the attention of our readers to the Superior Garden Seeds of C. W. Lambert, Esq., Proprietor of the Sunny Side, seed and plant gardens near Bellefonte, Pa.
